OWNERSHIP

DANIEL GILBERT

Majority Owner, Cleveland Cavaliers

Dan Gilbert is Chairman and Founder of Quicken Loans, the nation's largest online home lender. Dan also is majority owner of the NBA Cleveland Cavaliers basketball team and operator of the Quicken Loans Arena in Cleveland, Ohio. In addition, he is majority owner of the American Hockey League's newest franchise the Lake Erie Monsters, an affiliate of the National Hockey League's Colorado Avalanche.

Quicken Loans expects to close more than $20 billion in home loans in calendar year 2007. The company employs nearly 5,000 people and has been ranked a Top 20 "Best Place to Work" in America by FORTUNE Magazine for the past four years and ranked the #1 place to work for technology employees in the United States by Computerworld Magazine the past three consecutive years.

Dan founded Rock Financial in 1985 as a 22–year old first–year law student. Rock Financial grew into one of the largest independent mortgage banks in the country. In May of 1998, the company went public on the NASDAQ exchange in an IPO led by Bear Stearns, Inc.

In January 1999, the company launched its internet strategy which quickly positioned itself as the leader in online retail mortgages.

In December 1999, software maker Intuit purchased Rock Financial and the national web operation was renamed Quicken Loans Inc. With Dan staying on as CEO, Quicken Loans quickly became the leading provider of home loans on the Internet. The Quicken Loans Web site has gone on to earn "Best of the Web" accolades from Forbes, Money and PC Magazines.

In July 2002, (2 1/2 years after the sale to Intuit), Gilbert led a small group of private investors and purchased Quicken Loans Inc., back from Intuit. The company has been 100% privately held since that time. As part of the buy back of the company, Quicken Loans Inc. retained all rights to the Quicken Loans Inc. trademarks.

Dan became majority owner of the Cavaliers in March, 2005. In the short period he has owned the Cavaliers, he has led a complete overhaul of the front office executive team, coaching staff, player personnel, and game presentation.

In addition, he has invested $27 million in renovations for the "Quicken Loans Arena" (known as "The Q") including new seats, state-of-the-art scoreboards, video systems, sound systems, arena graphics, signage, security, player locker rooms, suite upgrades and administrative offices as well as the development of a new $25 million player development and training center that opened in September in nearby Independence, Ohio.

The facility, named Cleveland Clinic Courts, provides the team's players and coaches with a state-of-the-art center that deploys the newest and best technologies in assisting player training and development as well as leading edge video and instruction. The center also contains convenient media work space along with satellite and other delivery channels for the press corps that cover the team.

In Dan's first full year of ownership, the Cavaliers posted the sixth best record in the NBA at 50–32. The team returned to the playoffs for the first time since 1998, won a playoff series for the first time since 1993, and nearly upset the heavily-favored Detroit Pistons in the second round, taking the Pistons to a seventh and final game.

In his second year of ownership, the Cavaliers won the Eastern Conference Championship by beating the Pistons, making their way to the NBA Finals for the first time in the 37-year franchise history.

Dan and his partners also operate and invest in consumer–based, technology centered businesses, including: Michigan-based online promotions company, ePrize; and Fathead LLC, which licenses and sells a new category of product for the true sports enthusiast. A "Fathead" is a life-size, colorful, vinyl wall graphic of popular sports stars from the NBA, NFL, NHL and MLB in an action pose, or fans favorite team helmets, in addition to NASCAR racecars and Hollywood entertainment characters.

Gilbert and his partners also own and operate Flash Seats, LLC. Flash Seats has created technology and processes that replaces physical tickets for large sports and entertainment events with an electronic approach and offers a secure, online marketplace for transferring and selling tickets in a digital format. The Cavaliers are the first team in professional sports to use this new technology.

Dan recently launched Bizdom U in Detroit. This Detroit-based entrepreneur academy trains, mentors and finances young entrepreneurs and their start-up businesses in the city of Detroit. Bizdom U graduates will help create jobs, growth and wealth in inner cities.

Gilbert serves on the boards of the Children's Tumor Foundation in New York City, the Children's National Medical Center in Washington, DC , the Children's Hospital of Michigan Foundation and the Cleveland Clinic. In January 1999, the company launched its Internet strategy which quickly positioned itself as the leader of online retail mortgages.

In July 2002, two and a half years after the sale of the company to Intuit, Gilbert led a small group of private investors and purchased Quicken Loans Inc. back from Intuit. The company is 100% privately held and retains all Quicken trademarks.

Dan is also a partner in the private investment group Camelot Ventures, which primarily invests in consumer–based, technology centered businesses.

A "Fathead" is a big, bold, colorful, 3-D looking, life-size, movable vinyl wall graphic of popular sports stars in an action pose, or fans favorite team helmets, in addition to NASCAR racecars.

Camelot also owns and operates FlashSeat, LLC. FlashSeat is a company which has created technology and processes that replaces physical tickets for large sports and entertainment events with an electronic approach. FlashSeat also offers a secure, online marketplace for transferring and selling tickets in a digital format. The Cavaliers are the first team in professional sports to use this new, innovative technology.

Camelot has significant investments in Xeko, an environmentally centered children's game, film and products based business as well as Rock Equities, a commercial and residential real estate developer and operator.

Gilbert was Rawlings Sporting Goods' largest shareholder and was instrumental in effecting the sale of Rawlings to K2 in March 2003.

Dan is the past-president of JARC, a non–profit organization that provides housing and services to the developmentally disabled. He also is on the board of the Children's Tumor Foundation in New York City and the Children's Hospital of Michigan Foundation.

Mr. Gilbert earned his bachelor's degree from Michigan State University (Green not Blue) and his law degree from Wayne State University.

He was awarded the "Entrepreneur of the Year" award from Ernst and Young and was inducted into the Junior Achievement Hall of Fame.

He lives in Michigan with his wife and their five children.

GORDON GUND

Twenty-four seasons ago, it looked as though the Cavaliers might be headed out of Northeast Ohio until Gordon, now 68 and a native of Cleveland, and his brother George stepped in to purchase the club at the last minute, keeping the team at The Coliseum.

The Gunds presided over the resurgence of The Coliseum and the design and construction of Gund Arena which opened at the beginning of the 1994-95 season. Under the guidance of the Gunds, building records were set in attendance and bookings in both facilities, while the Cavaliers recorded one of the largest increases in home attendance in the NBA over the past 20 seasons. In October 1996, Gund was elected Chairman of the NBA's Board of Governors and served in that capacity for three years.

In March of 2005, Gordon Gund sold a majority ownership stake in the Cavaliers, including the lease rights to Gund Arena (renamed Quicken Loans Arena in September of 2005), to the group headed by current Cavaliers majority owner, Dan Gilbert and fellow minority owner David Katzman. Gordon retained a minority ownership stake in the franchise.

As a former co-owner, with George, of the Minnesota North Stars of the National Hockey League, Gordon and his brother were instrumental in building that franchise before its eventual sale in the spring of 1990. At that time, Gordon and George were granted an NHL expansion team that began play as the San Jose Sharks for the 1991-92 season. The Gunds sold their majority stake in the Sharks during February of 2002.

The expertise displayed by Gordon in the sports world has been evident in his other interests as well. He serves as the Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Gund Investment Corporation, which is involved in diversified investment activities. Gordon is a director of the Kellogg Company of Battle Creek, Michigan, and of Corning Incorporated of Corning, New York. He also recently served as a board member of the U.S. Olympic Committee.

Gordon now devotes a great deal of energy to national charitable and philanthropic causes. In 1971, he and his wife, Lulie, were members of the founding group of The Foundation Fighting Blindness, headquartered in Baltimore, Maryland and Gordon is its National Chairman. This foundation is dedicated to finding treatments and cures for retinitis pigmentosa and allied degenerative diseases of the retina, such as Usher syndrome and macular degeneration. These diseases as a group affect more than nine million Americans and are the leading causes of blindness and deaf-blindness in the United States today.

Gordon is a graduate of Harvard University and has honorary doctorates from the Goteburg University in Sweden, University of Maryland, Whittier College and the University of Vermont.

BUSINESS STAFF

LEN KOMOROSKI

President, Cavaliers/Quicken Loans Arena

Len Komoroski was named president of the Cavaliers/Quicken Loans Arena, which includes the newly-christened Quicken Loans Arena – "The Q", in April 2003. He spent the previous seven years as senior vice president and chief of business operations for the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League.

A seasoned business executive, Komoroski brings more than 25 years of experience in professional sports and entertainment to the organization. His leadership and business initiative bring a solid foundation from which the Cavaliers and The Q can continue to thrive and flourish.

For the 2003-04 season, Komoroski oversaw the restructuring of how the Cavaliers approached the business community, including the development of a staff featuring some of the top sports marketing executives in the industry. The collective efforts both on and off the floor resulted in one of the top business turnaround stories in NBA history. The Cavaliers had the largest year-over-year attendance increase in NBA history, progressing from a league-low of 11,497 per game in 2002-03 to 18,288 in 2003-04 – a 59% increase. Television ratings were up 300% and featured revised broadcast agreements resulting in the largest number of locally-televised games in team history. Radio ratings also increased by more than 200% and local merchandise sales grew by 500%. The Cavaliers also experienced the largest increase in corporate partnership revenue in the NBA last season. He also led the charge in the transformation of the Cavaliers communications efforts and dramatic changes in developing one of the most dynamic game experiences in the NBA.

Since then, Komoroski has led continued growth and development across the board. The 2006-07 regular season attendance average was 20,437, which was the largest in team history. The franchise has had three of the four largest home attendance averages in franchise history over the last four seasons. The team also set a record with 32 sellouts. The Cavaliers enter the 2007-08 season with a 22 game sellout streak. Corporate sales revenue is now amongst the top tier of teams in the NBA, including the dynamic season-presenting relationship with Cub Cadet. The Cavaliers are also considered to have one of the best game presentations in the NBA. Komoroski also played a leadership role in developing one of the top cable television relationships in the NBA with FSN Ohio, encompassing 70 regular season games, as well as for the entitlement of the Cavaliers new state-of-the-art player development facility – Cleveland Clinic Courts. In addition, Komoroski played a leadership role in the acquisition of its American Hockey League franchise, the Lake Erie Monsters, and his business team works to prepare them for their inaugural season at The Q beginning with the 2007-08 season.

While with the Eagles, Komoroski brought many properties in-house, including the Eagles Television Network, which is the largest developer of local programming in the NFL. Under his guidance, the Eagles established the fan-friendly NFL Training Camp, which was the most heavily attended in the league, featuring autograph sessions, interactive games, hospitality and an extraordinary merchandise tent. He also helped broker a record-setting naming rights deal with NovaCare, garnering a reported $66 million for the Eagles training facility, the NovaCare Complex.

Komoroski also played a leadership role in the development of Lincoln Financial Field, the Eagles state-of-the-art stadium. Through his efforts, the Eagles secured a 20-year, $140 million naming rights agreement with Lincoln Financial Group, one of the largest such agreements in pro sports history. He and his business group orchestrated the successful sellout of 172 suites, 8,000 club seats, 29,000 Stadium Builder Licenses and a waiting list of over 40,000 for season tickets

Through the efforts of Komoroski and his team, the Eagles were among the most successful NFL teams in securing long-term seven-figure per annum "Founding Partner" relationships for new stadia; in addition, they forged many other substantial six-figure per annum agreements. He also completed top-tier industry agreements for Eagles radio and television coverage and concession agreements for Lincoln Financial Field. Behind Komoroski's leadership, the organization secured major soccer events, concerts, Division I college football games and the Army/Navy Game, establishing Lincoln Financial Field as one of the most active stadiums in sports. Through these efforts and events the Eagles have become one of the highest grossing franchises in professional sports.

This is Komoroski's second stint in the NBA, having been with the Minnesota Timberwolves from 1988-94 and having played a major role in the start-up of the team and its arena, the Target Center. While Komoroski was Vice President of Sales and the senior sales and marketing official for the team and arena, the Timberwolves became one of the most financially successful organizations in the league. After Minnesota, he came to Cleveland as Senior Vice President and Chief Operating Officer of the International Hockey League's (IHL) Cleveland Lumberjacks, and immediately transformed the Lumberjacks into a flourishing enterprise. Both attendance and revenues saw sharp increases during Komoroski's time, and the Lumberjacks were one of three profitable IHL teams in 1996.

Komoroski got his start in sports in 1982 with the Pittsburgh Spirit of the Major Indoor Soccer League, followed by management roles with the Pittsburgh Penguins of the National Hockey League and the Minnesota Strikers of the MISL, and as a regional manager for the Miller Brewing Company's sports marketing arm.

Komoroski's achievements in professional sports have attracted considerable attention, and he has assumed leadership positions in several capacities. ROOKIE SCORER: Cavs rookie guard Daniel Gibson has averaged 10.8 points per game during the Finals. He became the first rookie since Richard Dumas in 1993 and just the fourth rookie since 1978 to average at least 10.5 points per game during the Finals.

DOING IT ALL: LeBron James averaged 25.7 points, 9.2 rebounds and 8.5 assists in the conference finals against Detroit. During the series he had four games of 20 or more points and had three double-doubles. He became just the third player in NBA history to average at least those numbers in a conference finals series. Here's a look at the other players to do it:

Oscar Robertson in 1963 (33.4 points, 12.4 rebounds and 8.6 assists)

John Havlicek in 1968 (25.7 points, 9.3 rebounds and 8.6 assists)

RALLY TIME: Cleveland became just the third team all-time to rally from a 2-0 series deficit in the conference finals to capture a seven-game series. The Cavaliers joined the 1971 Bullets and the 1993 Bulls (both versus the New York Knicks) as the only three teams to achieve that. The Cavaliers and Bulls are the only two teams to ever win the series in six games.

BOOBIE TRAPPED: Cavaliers rookie guard Daniel Gibson emerged as a key playoff contributor for the Cavaliers in their series against Detroit in the Eastern Conference Finals. During the six games, Gibson ranked second on the team in scoring at 13.5 points per game while posting games of 21 points, 11 points and 31 points in the final three games of the series. Here are some quick notes about Gibson's 21-point peformance in Game 4 and his 31-point effort in Game 6:

GAME 6: Scored 19 of his career playoff high and game-high 31 points in the fourth quarter as he connected on 7-9 from the field including a perfect 5-5 from three-point range and 12-14 from the free throw line.

- Set a team record for points in a quarter during the playoffs with 19 in the fourth quarter and tied the team record for points in a half with 25 in the second half. He also tied the team record for three-pointers made in a half with five in the second half.
- Had the third most points by a rookie in a close-out game in the conference finals…had the fifth most points by a rookie in a conference finals or NBA Finals win.
- Over the past 15 postseasons, only five players have scored at least 30 points and played less than 30 minutes in a playoff game. Daniel Gibson (June 2), Kirk Hinrich (April 27, 2005), Chris Webber (May 8, 2003), Eddie Johnson (May 23, 1997 and June 5, 1993) and Michael Jordan (April 30, 1993).
- In the last 30 postseasons, Gibson is the only rookie not selected in the first round of the NBA Draft to score at least 30 points in a conference finals or NBA Finals game. In addition, over the last 30 postseasons, he is the only player to score at least 30 points in a conference finals or NBA Finals game after averaging fewer than five points per game during the regular season.
- Gibson's 31 points were the most ever scored by a Cavs rookie in the playoffs and he became the second rookie to ever lead the team in scoring in a postseason game (Chris Mills on May 3, 1994 with 25 points).

GAME 4: Scored 21 points on 4-7 shooting and went 12-12 from the free throw line

- He became one of only four rookies in NBA history to shoot 12-12 or better from the line in a postseason game: Bob Leonard in 1957, Elgin Baylor in 1959 and Magic Johnson in 1980 (all three went 14-14).

WHAT BROWN HAS DONE FOR US: In two seasons with the Cavaliers, Mike Brown became the winningest playoff coach in team history with a mark of 19-14 (.576). Thanks to Cleveland's Game 6 win versus Detroit in the Eastern Conference Finals, Brown surpassed Lenny Wilkens (18 wins) for the most wins in team playoff history. A major part of Brown's success in the playoffs is due to Cleveland's winning ways on the road. Brown has posted an 8-9 (.471) record on the road in the postseason in his two years as head coach. Cleveland's postseason record on the road before Brown arrived was 7-31. The Cavaliers went 5-5 on the road during the 2007 postseason.

A GAME FOR THE AGES: LeBron James put on one of the most incredible shows in NBA history in Cleveland's Game 5 victory at Detroit in the Eastern Conference Finals. James was unstoppable down the stretch in leading the Cavaliers to a 109-107 double overtime victory as they took a 3-2 series lead. Here's a rundown of James' incredible performance:

- Scored a franchise playoff-high 48 points on 18-33 shooting to go along with nine rebounds and seven assists
- Scored 29 of the Cavaliers final 30 points including the last 25 points overall
- Only player in NBA history to score 25 consecutive points in a playoff game

The only other player in NBA history to post at least 48 points, nine rebounds and seven assists in a playoff game was Michael Jordan on April 28, 1995 when he posted 48 points, nine rebounds and eight assists vs. Charlotte

- James' 48 points tied for the third-most points scored in a road conference finals game. He tied Allen Iverson and Jerry West with 48 points while only Elgin Baylor and Wilt Chamberlain scored more
- His 48 points were the most points scored against the Pistons (regular season and playoffs) since Nov. 23, 2001 (a span of 590 Pistons games) when Shareef Abdur-Rahim scored 50 points for Atlanta.
- James' 48 points were the third most ever scored against the Pistons in the playoffs (Dominique Wilkins – 50 on April 19, 1986; Elgin Baylor – 49 on March 15, 1961).
- The last player to score at least 48 points in an Eastern Conference Playoff game was Michael Jordan, who scored 54 points vs. New York on May 31, 1993.
- James set team records in the following categories: points in a game (48), points in overtime (nine in both overtime periods), field goals made in a game (18) and field goal attempts in a game (33) and field goals made in overtime (four in the second overtime).

PASSING FANCY: LeBron James dominated games with his passing ability throughout the 2007 Playoffs. He dished out at least seven assists in 17 of 20 playoff games including 16 consecutive games with five or more assists. Larry Bird (from April 17 – June 3, 1986) is the only other non-guard in NBA history to have at least five assists in 16 straight postseason games.

SCORING MACHINE: As he makes his first appearance in the NBA Finals, LeBron James continues to climb up the NBA's postseason scoring list. As of June 6, James ranks fifth all-time in playoff scoring average at 28.0 points per game. He trails only Michael Jordan (33.4), Allen Iverson (30.0), Jerry West (29.1) and Tracy McGrady (28.8) in that category.

AMONG AN ELITE GROUP: Entering the Eastern Conference Finals, LeBron James has averaged 25.9 points, 7.8 rebounds and 8.1 assists per game during the playoffs. Oscar Robertson (1961-64), Bob Cousy (1955-56) and Larry Bird (1985-86) are the only players to average at least those numbers for an entire playoff year.

2006-07 Cavaliers Season Game Notes

PLAYOFF TIME ONCE AGAIN: On the heels of their first playoff berth in eight years last season, the Cleveland Cavaliers made a postseason appearance again in 2007. It marked back-to-back trips to the playoffs for the Cavaliers for the first time since making` five consecutive postseason appearances from 1992-96. Cleveland finished the regular season with a 50-32 (.610) record and completed the 2006-07 season with the second-best record in the Eastern Conference and the second-best record in the Central Division.

50 OR BUST: Over the past two seasons, the Cavaliers experienced one of their most successful stretches of basketball in team history. For just the second time in team history the Cavaliers posted at least 50 wins in consecutive seasons. The only other time that occurred in Cavs history was in back-to-back years of 1991-92 (57-25) and 1992-93 (54-28). The Cavaliers' 50 wins this season also tied for the fourth-best record in team history (57 in 1988-89 and 1991-92, 54 in 1992-93 and 50 last season). Cleveland joins Dallas, Detroit, Phoenix and San Antonio as the only five teams with 50 or more wins in each of the past two seasons.

ONE OF A KIND: Cavaliers forward LeBron James was spectacular once again during the 2006-07 season. He led the Cavaliers deep into the playoffs for the second straight year and continued to solidify his place among the game's greats. Here's a look at some accomplishments from James' 2006-07 campaign:

- Averaged 27.3 points, 6.7 rebounds and 6.0 assists per game, marking his third straight season of posting averages of at least 27 points, 6 rebounds and 6 assists per game. He joins Oscar Robertson as the only other player in league history to post those averages for at least three straight seasons.
- For the third straight season, James scored at least 2,000 points. He joins Gilbert Arenas as the only two players in the NBA with current streaks of three straight seasons of at least 2,000 points. Mike Mitchell (80-81) is the only other Cavalier in history to post 2,000 points in a season.
- Among all players to have scored 8,000 or more career points, James currently ranks sixth all-time in career scoring average at 26.7 points per game. The only players ahead of James are Michael Jordan (30.1), Wilt Chamberlain (30.1), Allen Iverson (27.9), Elgin Baylor (27.4) and Jerry West (27.0).
- Was selected by the fans as the leading vote-getter among all players for the 2007 NBA All-Star Game in Las Vegas. In his third All-Star appearance, James led the East with 28 points while adding six rebounds and six assists in 33 minutes. In addition, with his third assist at Washington on April 6, James reached 2,000 assists in his career. He became the second fastest player in NBA history to reach 8,000 points, 2,000 rebounds and 2,000 assists in his career. James accomplished the feat in 311 games while it took Oscar Robertson 269, followed by Michael Jordan at 339 games.

It marked the second-longest stretch of games in his career with at least 29 points (11 straight from March 19 – April 10 during the 2005-06 season).

CLEVELAND'S BROWN: In just two seasons at the helm of the Cavaliers, Head Coach Mike Brown has quickly recorded the best winning percentage of any coach in the team's 37-year history. After posting the most wins as a first-year head coach in team history in 2005-06 (50-32 record), Brown followed that up with another 50-win season (50-32; .610) in his second year. With a combined regular season record of 100-64 (.610) in two seasons, Brown has the highest winning percentage of any head coach in Cavs history. In addition, his 100 wins over his first two seasons are the most in team history surpassing Mike Fratello's 90 wins in his first two seasons (1993-95). Here's a look at the top winning percentages (regular season only) of all head coaches in Cavs history:

ROAD SWEET ROAD: The Cavaliers turned their play on the road around throughout the course of the season to post one of the most successful road campaigns in team history. After going 4-9 on the road in the first two months of the season, Cleveland rebounded to become one of the East's best road teams. The Cavaliers finished the season winning eight of their last 12 road games to put them at 20-21 (.488) on the road during the season. Their road record was good for the second best road record of any team in the Eastern Conference. Cleveland's 20 road wins tied for the third best road record in team history (22 wins in 1991-92, 21 wins in 95-96, and 20 wins in 1997-98). Cavaliers All-Time Retired Jerseys

Nate Thurmond (No. 42)
Height: 6-11 Weight: 235
Position: Center
Jersey Retired on Dec. 18, 1977

Long before Nate Thurmond had arrived to the Cleveland Cavaliers on Nov. 27, 1975 and led the five-year old franchise to its first playoff appearance had Thurmond held a warm spot in the hearts of Northeast Ohioans.

Born Nathaniel Thurmond on July 25, 1941 in Akron, Ohio, the 6-foot-11 center starred at Akron's Central Hower High School before taking his talents to Bowling Green State University. As a Falcon, Thurmond averaged 17.8 points and 17.0 rebounds over three varsity seasons, earning All-America honors as a senior in 1963.

Drafted by the San Francisco Warriors with the third overall pick in the 1963 NBA Draft, Thurmond learned behind Wilt Chamberlain for a full season before the Warriors traded Chamberlain midway through the following season clearing room for Thurmond to flourish. A dominant defensive player whom Chamberlain and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar both credited as their toughest defender, Thurmond was named to the NBA All-Defensive First or Second-Team on five occasions (1969, '71-74) and was honored as an NBA All-Star seven times (1965-65, '70, '73-74). Thurmond is also acknowledged in NBA history as the first player to ever record a quadruple-double.

Thurmond was traded to the Chicago Bulls after 11 seasons as a Warrior and two trips to the NBA Finals (1964 and 1967). Thurmond spent two seasons in Chicago before the Cavaliers acquired the center for Steve Patterson and Eric Fernsten.

Home in Ohio again Thurmond led the 1975-76 Cavaliers team that started 6-11 without him to a 43-22 finish and the playoffs, helping give birth to the season better known as "the Miracle of Richfield".

The following season would be Thurmond's last as he retired at the end of the season. He was inducted in the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in 1984 and named to the NBA 50th Anniversary All-Time Team in 1996.

The Cavaliers retired his jersey on Dec. 18, 1977.

Bobby "Bingo" Smith (No. 7)
Height: 6-6 Weight: 195
Position: Small Forward
Jersey Retired on Dec. 4, 1979

On May 11, 1970, the Cleveland Cavaliers drafted 11 players in the 1970 Expansion Draft. Two never put on a Cavaliers uniform. Of the remaining nine, all but one played four seasons or less in Cleveland.

The one, Bobby Smith, played 10 seasons and over 700 games with the Cavaliers, helping to shape and mold the young expansion team into playoff contenders.

Better known as "Bingo", Smith spent his rookie season with the San Diego Rockets before being selected by the Cavaliers in the Expansion Draft. Smith and his patented 'rainbow jumper' became bright spots through Cleveland's early years as the team quickly improved. With each passing season, the versatile small forward remained a constant and consistent performer even leading the 1974-75 Cavaliers that finished 40-42 and one game out of the playoffs in scoring at 15.9 points per game.

The following season Cleveland made the playoffs for the first time and Smith added a bit of magic to the season that has become known as the "Miracle of Richfield". With home court advantage already lost and the Cavaliers trailing in their first round series against the favored Washington Bullets, 0-1, Smith and his rainbow jumpers helped Cleveland find a pot of gold. In Washington for Game 2, Smith scored a team-leading 17 points and made the game-winning shot with just seconds remaining to secure the 80-79 victory. The win served as the first playoff victory for the franchise and propelled the Cavaliers past the Bullets and into the Eastern Conference Finals against Boston where they eventually fell in six games.

Smith played four more seasons in Cleveland, helping guide the Cavaliers to the playoffs two more times before finishing his career with the San Diego Clippers for one season.

"Bingo" ranks in the top 10 all-time in franchise history in five different categories: games played (2nd), field goals made (2nd), field goals attempted (2nd), minutes played (3rd) and points scored (4th).

The Cavaliers retired his jersey on Dec. 4, 1979.

Austin Carr (No. 34)
Height: 6-4 Weight: 200
Position: Shooting Guard
Jersey Retired on Jan. 3, 1981

Going into their second season as a franchise, the Cleveland Cavaliers held the No. 1 overall pick in the 1971 NBA Draft and aimed to get an impact player. With their pick, the Cavaliers selected Austin Carr, a high-scoring shooting guard and two-time All-American at Notre Dame.

Carr proved not only to be the impact player the Cavaliers sought, but much more.

As a rookie, Carr immediately became the top option on offense, averaging 21.2 points and becoming the first Cavalier named to the All-NBA Rookie Team. Known as "A.C." by teammates and fans alike, the sweet-shooting fan favorite averaged 20 or more points the following two seasons, highlighted by Carr's selection as an all-star in 1974.

Just as Carr began to reach elite status in the NBA, misfortune struck. On Dec. 5, 1974, Carr suffered a knee injury that eventually cut short his season and forced him to undergo surgery.

Carr persevered and returned strong, playing in all 82 games in three of the following four seasons. Even after the injury, Carr's impact as a scorer and leader remained present as he never averaged less than double-digits in his career and led the Cavaliers to the playoffs on three occasions during his nine-year tenure in Cleveland.

After the 1979-80 season, Carr's final with the Cavaliers, he won the Walter Kennedy Citizenship Award for his substantial contributions to the Cleveland community.

Carr remains the franchise leader in field goals made and attempted and ranks second in points scored. He also ranks among the franchise leaders in free throws made (6th) and attempted (5th) and minutes played (4th).

For his efforts on and off the floor, Carr was selected by 32 members of the media in Northeast Ohio to the Cavaliers' All-Time Starting Five during the Cavaliers 30th Anniversary season of 1999-2000.

He remains deeply involved in the organization serving as Director of Community and Business Development as well as the full-time analyst for the Cavaliers Television Network.

The Cavaliers retired his jersey on Jan. 3, 1981.

Larry Nance (No. 22)
Height: 6-10 Weight: 235
Position: Power Forward
Jersey Retired on Jan. 30, 1995

Undoubtedly, the 1986 NBA Draft that brought the Cavaliers Brad Daugherty, Ron Harper and Mark Price brought a youthful injection of much-needed talent and skilled players to an evolving franchise. The acquisition of the three college stars instantly made the Cavaliers good.

But perhaps it was the final acquisition of power forward Larry Nance that made the Cavaliers go from good to great and led to the most successful era in team history. On Feb. 25, 1988, Cleveland sent Kevin Johnson, Mark West, Tyrone Corbin, a first-round draft choice in 1988 and two second-round picks to Phoenix in exchange for Nance, Mike Sanders and Detroit's first-round pick in 1988.

Known as "Leapin' Larry" for the dunking prowess that made him the first-ever Slam Dunk Champion in 1984 and his strong shot-blocking skills, Nance brought his high-flying, power game and six years of experience to a team in desperate need of a veteran.

Nance filled the void remarkably, helping the Cavaliers make the playoffs by winning 11 of their final 13 games that season.

The following season served as one of the best in franchise history as the Cavaliers won a franchise-high 57 games (which was later tied by the 1991-92 team that Nance also starred on) and finished a team-best 37-4 at home. Nance was named an NBA All-Star for the first of two times in 1989 and was joined on the squad by Daugherty, Price and head coach Lenny Wilkens.

Spearheaded by the trio of Nance, Daugherty and Price, the Cavaliers made the playoffs in each season the group played together besides 1990-91, where Price was limited to just 16 games after tearing his ACL.

A tenacious defender, Nance is the only player in franchise history to be named to the All-Defensive First Team (1988-89) and the only Cavalier to make the team three times (1988-89, 91-92 and 92-93).

He ranks among the Cavaliers All-Time leaders in blocked shots (2nd), field goal percentage (3rd), rebounds (5th), field goals made (8th) and attempted (8th), minutes played (8th) and free throws made (9th) and attempted (10th).

Nance was named to the Cavaliers' All-Time Starting Five by 32 members of the Northeast Ohio media during the Cavaliers 30th Anniversary season.

The Cavaliers retired his jersey on Jan. 30, 1995.

Brad Daugherty (No. 43)
Height: 7-0 Weight: 263
Position: Center
Jersey Retired on March. 1, 1997

10,389 points scored. 5,227 rebounds grabbed. 2,741 free throws made. 3,670 free throws attempted. Five all-star appearances made.

Those numbers represent the various statistics that Brad Daugherty leads the Cavaliers in all-time and why he is one of the greatest players in franchise history.

The number one overall draft pick of the 1986 NBA Draft, the 7-foot center was pivotal along with then-fellow rookies Ron Harper, John Williams and Mark Price in re-energizing and improving the franchise. The multi-skilled Daugherty was named to the All-Rookie Team and quickly joined elite status as an NBA center while leading the Cavaliers to the same as a team.

Daugherty played in the first of five all-star games in 1988 and then led the Cavaliers to the playoffs for the first time in three seasons that April. The following season Daugherty and the Cavaliers won a franchise-record 57 games, including going 37-4 at home.

After an injury-plagued 1989-90 season in which Daugherty missed the first 41 games, Daugherty returned to all-star status. He became the first and remains the only player in franchise history to average 20 or more points and 10 or more rebounds in the same season. He reached that feat in three consecutive seasons (1990-93), being named an all-star in the process each of those years.

In the 1992 NBA Playoffs, Daugherty cemented his place as one of the best in the league by leading the Cavaliers to the conference finals. He averaged 21.5 points on .528 field goal shooting, 10.2 rebounds, 3.4 assists and 1.0 block in 40.4 minutes per game during the 17-game run. In the first round against New Jersey, he scored a then Cavalier playoff record 40 points on April 23.

Cleveland made the playoffs in all of the seasons Daugherty played but two and he led the Cavaliers in scoring in all but three of his seasons.

Just entering the prime of his career at 28, Daugherty suffered an ill-fated career-ending herniated lumbar disc in mid-February of the 1993-94 season.

Despite having his outstanding career cut short, the North Carolina native had already broken the afore-mentioned Cavalier records. He remains in the top 10 all-time in field goal percentage (2nd), minutes played (2nd), field goals made and attempted (3rd), scoring average (5th), assists (6th), blocked shots (6th) and steals (9th).

As part of the Cavaliers 30th Anniversary in 1999-2000, Daugherty was unanimously named by 32 members of the Northeast Ohio media to the Cavaliers' All-Time Starting Five. He was the only player to garner all 32 votes.

The Cavaliers retired his jersey on March 1, 1997.

Mark Price (No. 25)
Height: 6-0 Weight: 180
Position: Point Guard
Jersey Retired on November. 13, 1999

They say lightning doesn't strike twice in the same place, but for the Cavaliers on draft day in 1986, it did.

Prior to the draft on June 17, Cleveland acquired the top overall pick from Philadelphia in exchange for Roy Hinson and considerations. With the first pick in the 1986 NBA Draft, Cleveland selected center Brad Daugherty.

At the top of the second round, the Dallas Mavericks selected Mark Price with the 25th overall pick. Quickly, the Cavaliers traded their second-round draft pick in 1989 and other considerations to Dallas in exchange for the rights to the 6-foot All-American from Georgia Tech.

Unknowingly then, the Cavaliers acquired two of the greatest players in franchise history that day. Price and Daugherty helped the team turn the corner and join the NBA's elite while becoming the cornerstones of the Cavaliers' franchise.

While Daugherty started as a rookie, Price learned on the bench for a year before unseating John Bagley. Once a starter, Price never looked back.

Widely regarded as one of the best shooters in NBA history, Price and his picture-perfect release guided the Cavaliers to their most successful run in franchise history. With the exception of the 1990-91 season in which he tore his ACL and played only 16 games, the Cavaliers made the playoffs and won at least 42 games every year Price was a starter.

The sweet-shooting point guard was named an All-Star four times (1989, 1992-94) and at the time of his retirement was the only Cavalier to be named to an All-NBA Team more than once (1988-89, 1991-94), including All-NBA First Team in 1992-93.

Price led the NBA in free throw percentage twice (1991-92, '92-93) and won the NBA's Long Distance Shootout in back-to-back years (1993-94).

Not just a shooter, Price ranked in the top 10 in the league in assists in five of his nine seasons as a Cavalier.

For his career, Price ranks first among all Cavaliers in three-point field goals made and attempted, assists, steals and free throw percentage. He also ranks among the top 10 all-time in franchise history in points scored (3rd), three-point field goal percentage (3rd), free throws made (5th), field goals made (4th), field goals attempted (4th), games played (5th), free throws attempted (7th) and minutes played (5th). Price was named to the Cavaliers' All-Time Starting Five by 32 members of the Northeast Ohio media during the Cavaliers 30th Anniversary season. He was also the leading vote-getter on the Cavs All-Time Team, as voted on by the Cleveland fans.

The Cavaliers retired his jersey on November 13, 1999.

Cavaliers Uniform/Logos History

By Joe Gabriele

Did you know that the famous saying, "Clothes make the man" was a quote by Mark Twain? (And if so, did you know the rest of that quote says, "Naked people have little or no influence on society"?)

The Cavaliers have had their share of unique threads over their 35 year history. Cleveland has changed their look ten times, going full circle – kind of – when they returned to the wine and gold on April 16, 2003. One day after completing a 17-65 season and five weeks before they won the rights to draft an 18-year-old from Akron.

Granted, it was a new expression of the wine and gold, but the Cavaliers current threads are among the league's most popular, something that could not have been said of the previous uniforms. The 18-year-old from Akron has a lot to do with it – in one survey, LeBron James jersey was No. 1 in sales, the Cavaliers uniform, No. 4. But a lot of it has to with the fact that Cleveland's most recent uniforms are just – for lack of a better expression – really cool.

Fans identified with the wine and gold. Not only are they attractive colors as well as the team's original flavor. But the items themselves – "wine" and "gold" – fit perfectly with the swashbuckling theme of a Cavalier. The Cavaliers don't just wear the wine and gold, they are the Wine and Gold. The same way Ohio State is the Scarlet and Grey or Michigan is the Maize and Blue.

In between the current attire and the first expression of wine and gold back in 1970, the Cavaliers have dabbled in burnt orange, royal blue, bright orange black and pastel blue. There have been three seismic uniform shifts in the franchise's 35 years, not all good.

In 1970, the inaugural Cavaliers donned the original gold uniforms at their 11,000 seat venue – the old Cleveland Arena – on Euclid and 37th. The Cavaliers went with gold at home and wine on the road, a tradition that they continued throughout their first 13 years in the league.

The first uni's had the feathered underscore of "Cavaliers" on each jersey, home and road. The logo, which has (thankfully) survived throughout the club's three-and-half decades, had the words "Cleveland Cavaliers" wrapped around a basketball and featured a silhouette of a Cavalier figure jousting with his sword. The logo is every bit as recognizable to Clevelanders as the Indians' "Chief Wahoo."

Cleveland's new expression of the old expression of the wine and gold came about in 1974 and made their triumphant comeback in 2005. The garb that adorned the "Miracle of Richfield" team featured piping with short horizontal stripes of wine, gold and white stacked along the sides of the shirts and shorts. Again, both the home and away jerseys read "Cavaliers."

Long before the current club donned the Miracle jerseys in an actual game – a 104-79 drubbing of the Knicks on January 8 – you could see rappers adorned in No. 34 Austin Carr attire on BET or on the streets from Cleveland to the Big Apple.

In 1981, as the final remnants of the Miracle squad faded into the sunset, the Cavaliers went to a wine and gold scheme that is more reminiscent of today's colors than the original hues. The Mike Mitchell-era team went with a metallic gold with a pair of horizontal stripes with the word "Cleveland" written above it in block letters.

The organization and the team were making big changes in the 1980s and the radical departure from the club's original colors – and its identity – came in the form of the burnt orange and royal blue threads with the word "CAVS" written across the chest. The "V" was designed like a hoop with a ball entering it, which also served as Cleveland's new logo.

The Cavaliers retained the colors – and slight variations on the look – throughout their final, and highly successful, years at the Richfield Coliseum. The burnt orange as the primary road color was replaced by the royal blue road uniforms in 1987 and the "CAVS" logo was replaced with the block "Cleveland" before the 1989 season.

This attire will forever be linked to the Lenny Wilkens era of excellence that featured the likes of Mark Price, Brad Daugherty, Larry Nance and Hot Rod Williams.

When the Cavaliers began play at Gund Arena in the 1994-95 season, there was once again a radical departure from the previous look. From the wine and gold to the burnt orange and royal blue, the Cavaliers went with pastel blue and black. Home uniforms were white, road black, with a blue splash across the torso and lined lettering that said "CAVS" at home and "Cleveland" on the road, both outlined in orange.

The Cavaliers modified this look in 1997, sticking with the color scheme, but losing the mystifying torso splash. Instead, the uniforms featured a more streamlined blue and orange piping along the right side of the shirts and shorts. The futuristic lined letters remained.

But in October of 2002, then-owner Gordon Gund decided to bring Cavaliers fans back to the future when he announced, "Our fans take pride in our team and really identify with the things that make Cleveland different. They want a team whose identity was 'true to Cleveland.' With that in mind, we set out to have colors, logos and uniforms that reflect our history and look forward at the same time. These new marks represent what our fans and we believe is the right match for Cleveland and for the Cavaliers."

The new colors were announced on October 9 – the current "new expression of wine and gold" – a crimson-hued wine color and a metallic gold, similar to 1981 uni's. Dark blue, the secondary color, was a tribute to the Cavalier teams of the 1990s.

The Cavaliers uniforms may undergo more changes as the LeBron James era unfolds, especially in light of the team's new ownership. But old school Cavalier fans are just glad that the team recognized its roots and the colors that best represent the team and the city.

Like the Boston Celtics green or the Oakland Raiders black and silver, the Cavaliers are their best in the wine and gold. It's no surprise that the Cavaliers are now lined up for big things. After all, the clothes make the man.

Moondog

Moondog has a unique connection not just to the Cavaliers, but to all of Cleveland. Cleveland is known worldwide as the Rock & Roll city. Famed Cleveland radio disc-jockey, Alan Freed, coined the phrase "Rock & Roll" and sparked a music explosion in the 1950's. Freed often referred to himself as the "Moondog" and his listeners as "Moondoggers."

The Cavaliers' Moondog is dedicated to following in the spirit of the original. Alan Freed was innovative, fun-loving, passionate and controversial. Moondog promises to be the same.

Unleash Moondog at your next event.

Joe Tait

Vice President, Broadcasting

Joe Tait returns for his 36th season as the voice of the Cleveland Cavaliers. As the club's radio play-by-play announcer, Tait has become one of the most recognizable and popular members of the Cavaliers and he is synonymous with the team itself. On Nov. 26, 2002, when the Cavaliers hosted the Sacramento Kings, Tait broadcasted his 2,500th Cavaliers game, further illustrating his long and memorable tenure as the voice of the Cleveland Cavaliers.

For the first 11 years of Cavaliers history, he was the voice that let everyone know "It's basketball time at The Coliseum" (or, "It's basketball time at the Cleveland Arena" until the 1974-75 season). During that time, he became an institution in the area while earning a reputation as one of the top sportscasters in the country.

In 1981, he left Cleveland to become the radio play-by-play announcer of the New Jersey Nets. A year later he handled the play-by-play of Chicago Bulls games on SportsVision, the team's cable-TV outlet, and broadcast the CBS Radio College Game-of-the-Week. Tait returned to the Cavaliers radio post in 1983.

After 11 consecutive seasons of calling games at The Coliseum, Tait had to again change his famous lead-in from "It's basketball time at The Coliseum" to "It's basketball time at Gund Arena" for the 1994-95 season, when the team moved from The Coliseum to Gund Arena in downtown Cleveland. "It's Basketball Time at Quicken Loans Arena" is now the lead-in as year number two of the Dan Gilbert led era of Cavs basketball begins.

In December, 1987, Tait was named Vice President of Broadcast Services for the Cavaliers. In that full-time role, Tait was involved in all aspects of the Cavaliers radio and television broadcasting, while continuing his duties as radio broadcaster. From 1987-88 to 1992-93, Tait performed the television play-by-play duties for the 20 games each season which were telecast on WOIO-Nineteen and the Cavaliers Television Network. For the past 13 seasons, Tait has broadcasted all 82 games on News Radio WTAM 1100 and the Cavaliers Radio Network which covers most of the state of Ohio and parts of Pennsylvania. Tait also served as the radio play-by-play voice of the WNBA Cleveland Rockers from 1997 to 2003.

Prior to his full-time association with the Cavaliers, Tait broadcast Cleveland Indians baseball for 16 years. He has also done selected college basketball games that were carried nationally on the CBS Radio network. Tait was named the 2004 "Sportscaster of the Year in Ohio." He also received the honor in 1974, 1976, 1978, 1991, 1996, 1999 and 2002. In addition, Tait was voted the best radio/TV announcer in the area in a poll conducted by the Cleveland Plain Dealer in 1985 and 1986. Tait kept active during the summer of 1992 as the play-by-play voice of the World Basketball League on both SportsChannel America and ESPN.

A graduate of Monmouth College in Illinois, Tait began his radio career while still in college, broadcasting local sports events in the Illinois/Indiana area. In 1969, Tait became the network voice of Indiana University football and the pregame host of Indiana Pacer basketball in the old ABA. A year later, with the birth of the Cavaliers, Tait began his association with the club. Also, Tait was an instructor in sportscasting at Ohio University (1966-68) and at Mount Union College (1989-1994). In the fall of 1996, Tait was named to the Board of Trustees for Mount Union College in Alliance, Ohio, where he has been the TV voice of the Purple Raiders for 18 seasons.

Throughout his broadcasting career, Tait has been honored with a number of awards, including being elected to the Monmouth College Athletic Hall of Fame in October 1991, to the Media Hall of Fame by the Sports Media Association of Cleveland and Ohio (S.M.A.C.O.) in September 1992 and to the Broadcasters Hall of Fame in October 1992. In November 1996, Tait was awarded the C.S. Williams Founders Award by the Broadcasters Hall of Fame for long and meritorious service in broadcasting. They have recently given him The Broadcasting Legacy Award for 2004. In the summer of 2001, he was inducted into the Cleveland Sports Legends Hall of Fame and the Lorain Sports Hall of Fame. He was also inducted into the Cleveland Press Club Hall of Fame in September of 2003.

Eight teams in each conference qualify for NBA Playoffs. The division winner with the best record in each conference is ranked No. 1, the other division winners are ranked No. 2 and No. 3 in order of their won-lost record and the remaining five teams are ranked Nos. 4-8 according to their won-lost records. The team with the better regular season won-lost record has home-court advantage in each round of the playoffs.

NBA Playoffs
Determining Ties for Playoff Position

In order to break a tie for playoff positions, if one exists at the end of the regular season, the following criteria will be utilized in the order set forth:

b. Better winning percentage within own division (only if tied teams are in same division).

c. Better winning percentage within own conference.

d. Better winning percentage against playoff opponents in own conference (including teams that finished the regular season tied for a playoff position).

e. Better winning percentage against playoff opponents in opposite conference (including teams that finished the regular season tied for a playoff position).

f. Better point differential between offense and defense.

MORE THAN TWO TEAMS TIED

a. If applicable, division champions must be determined first.

b. Better winning percentage in all games among the tied teams.

c. Better winning percentage against teams in own division (only if all tied teams are in same division).

d. Better winning percentage against teams in own conference.

e. Better winning percentage against teams eligible for playoffs in own conference (including teams that finished the regular season tied for a playoff position).

f. Best point differential between offense and defense.

Note: If a multiple team tie is reduced to a two-team tie at any point using the above criteria, the two-team tie will be resolved in accordance with the existing two-team tie procedure.
